PROFILE

I am currently studying about computer science. I have been learning about web development entirely on my own and I use full JavaScript for both frontend and backend.
I am also a huge enthusiast of GNU/Linux and have been using Arch as my daily driver since 2019.
I love to contribute to open source projects and learn to solve problems in different ways.
Exploring new frameworks, tools and techniques to accomplish something more efficiently never bores me. As the quote says, Never Stop Learning
